Andrew Walker was born (1955), raised, and educated in England, which included singing with Portsmouth Cathedral Choir, and a music degree from the University of London. He emigrated to the United States in 1977, first to Grace Episcopal Church, Ocala, and since 1980, has been the Director of Music at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Orlando. His music is published by the Royal School of Church Music, and Paraclete Press. He has directed choir camps (including several RSCM America Summer Courses), Elderhostels (now 'Road Scholars'), and workshops throughout the South-Eastern United States. At St. Michael's he directs a very active Music Department of over 60 members involved in five different performing groups, incorporating ages from birth thru retired, and regular trips to sing in the UK. In 2009 he was elected to serve a term on the national Board of Directors of the American branch of The Royal School of Church Music; he eventually served two, three year terms, three years as President. During his time as President, in 2014, he founded and established the first RSCM America National Choir, directing them for three years. In 2016, he was awarded an Honorary Associate of the Royal School of Church Music degree. He is married to Gladys van den Berg, has three daughters, one granddaughter, and four grandsons. In "down-time" he enjoys silence, flight simulation in VR, and anything "sci-fi" - especially on the PC. If there is a horse to ride, or boat to sail - that will be enjoyed as well!
